Apron Strings

Ties to the Past

September 14
through October 21,
2018

Although taken for granted by many social and art historians, the apron is the subject of a fascinating reevaluation in this exhibition. Apron Strings: Ties to the Past, features fifty-one vintage and contemporary examples that review the apron's role as an emotionally charged vehicle for expression with a rich and varied craft history that is still viable today. Using aprons dating from the late 1930s through the present, the exhibition chronicles changing attitudes toward women and domestic work. It also surveys the wide range of design and craft techniques apron-makers have used to express themselves, while still working within creative venues traditionally available to women. Today, artists continue using aprons to explore cultural myths and realities as well as their individual experiences with American domesticity. Apron Strings is organized into several thematic groups addressing design, historical context, use, and cultural message. The exhibition serves as an excellent tool to bring together diverse parts of the community through shared experiences with, and memories of, a common, everyday textile. Apron Strings: Ties to the Past reevaluates the apron's varying roles over time in an artistic and cultural manner. The exhibition is toured by ExhibitsUSA, a national program of Mid-America Arts Alliance.

Albin STUDIO

EXHIBITION

Laurie Albin has enjoyed painting art commissions in portraiture and landscapes for the last 38 years. Recognized as a prolific artist in multiple mediums, Laurie's emphasis is in watercolor. Watercolor is the process of painting with pigments that are mixed with water. Of all the painting processes, watercolor painting is known for its inherent delicacy and subtlety. Laurie's work fully embodies these characteristics. Over the years, Laurie has received numerous awards of recognition and participated in many Midwest exhibit and gallery shows. Laurie is also a member of the Kansas Watercolor Society. Presently, Laurie teaches art (grades 7-12) in Hill City, Kansas, and works in her home studio in WaKeeney. She and her husband have three married daughters, two grandchildren (another on the way!), and one loving Maltese puppy.

ON DISPLAY FROM OCTOBER 26 THROUGH DECEMBER 2, 2018.
