Our current exhibition, Life in the Trenches, explores the human face of World War I and the miserable nature of trench warfare. WWI is known as the Great War and the 'war to end all wars.' America joined the fray in 1917. Out of more than two million Americans who served in WWI, more than 80,000 were from Kansas. This unique exhibit focuses on the harrowing experiences of Kansas soldiers by using vivid, first-hand accounts of their ordeals, trials, and tribulations. Visitors learn the reasoning behind using trenches in the war; what the trenches looked like; and what life was like in the trenches.

Three interactive elements in this exhibition give visitors a tangible experience and include: Vet Vignettes – information and accounts of Kansas, American, Allied, and Central Power troops in a simple to navigate touch-screen format; Gas Attack – users are challenged to respond quickly and prepare themselves for a gas attack before it is too late; and Not Five Star Food – explore a WWI era mess kit and the recipes they might have used on the battlefield.

In the interactive Vet Vignette kiosk there is a page dedicated to Kansas soldiers with a soldier from Hill City, KS highlighted. Albert E. Beeby, served in Company A, 4th Machine Gun Battalion, 2nd Division, A.E.F. Near Vierzy, France, Beeby ran about 100 yards under heavy fire to carry a wounded marine to safety. Mr. Beeby was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for his bravery. Stories like this of courageous soldiers are woven throughout this amazing exhibition. These men were forever changed and gratefully today we reap the benefits of their service and sacrifice. Remembering is important. It is a means of showing gratitude and fosters understanding, but hopefully it also helps build a better citizenry.

Encaustic Class –
December 10, 2022

Proudly we hooped and hollered with special programming and culminated with a Michael Martin Murphy concert on the Museum lawn. A stellar year that will be remembered and celebrated for years to come, but its end only opened the door to the next. There is much to look forward to, the Hansen Museum has scheduled many exciting opportunities for 2023.

Art has many powers! Art can reduce anxiety and stress, expand minds, connect people, and broaden horizons just to name a few. Exhibitions scheduled for display at the Hansen in 2023 range from fine art to Kansas history – bringing all the powers of art to Northwest Kansas.

Currently twenty-three Continuing Education Classes/ Workshops covering a wide-range of disciplines – everything from culinary to painting opportunities are planned for 2023. Continuing Education classes are a wonderful way to broaden horizons and connect with people. These classes are another way the Hansen Museum is bringing the power of art to the people of Northwest Kansas.

In spirit of our namesake, the late Dane G. Hansen, the Hansen Museum strives to innovatively enrich the lives of the people of Northwest Kansas through the power of art. It has been an honor to serve the people of Northwest Kansas for the last half century and the Hansen Museum excitedly looks forward to doing the same for next 50 plus.

Survey of Felting with Sally Brandon

Cover the basics of seamless felt as we use natural alpaca/wool fiber, hot soapy water and agitation to create a felted oven/bbq mitt. We'll discuss embellishments and try a little needle felting. As an added bonus we'll finish off the day, using fine merino wool on a sheer, silk scarf to try Nuno felting. You'll have learned the techniques and gained plenty of ideas to create a wide variety of projects.

Since 1976, the Hansen Museum has partnered with local art instructors to provide a professional gallery experience for high school art students.

In allowing these student artists to display their work in the Museum, our hope is to inspire them; to fuel their passion for art and to encourage them to continue creating past their high school years. Viewers will have the opportunity to interact with these budding young artists during the High School Art Preview.

Cartography of Quilts

February 24 through May 14

Handstitched Worlds: The Cartography of Quilts invites viewers to read quilts as maps, tracing the paths of individual stories and experiences that illuminate larger historic events and cultural trends. Spanning the nineteenth to the twenty-first centuries, this exhibition brings together 18 quilts from the collection of the American Folk Art Museum, New York, representing a range of materials, motifs, and techniques—from traditional early American quilts to more contemporary sculptural assemblage. The quilts in Handstitched Worlds show us how this too-often overlooked medium balances creativity with tradition, individuality with collective zeitgeist.
